

Here's what parents are saying about St. Paul's School!

I love the fact that St. Paul's offers a variety of extracurricular activities for the children to choose from and lots of different and exciting learning activities in the classroom to keep the children interested ...

- Janet Little

We've searched far and wide for a school that emanates qualities of days gone by, a safe, intimate environment in which intellectual curiosity abounds. There is no other place in the area we'd choose to enroll our children.

My husband and I really love St. Paul's School! Our daughters have learned so much from the caring and supportive teachers! We have seen our children thrive since joining this spectacular school!

During my son [Jake]'s [Pre-K4] year at St. Paul's, I was amazed at how much he had learned. He was reading books by January, spelling, adding and subtracting, and retelling stories he had read. In addition, he attended chapel and learned a weekly Bible verse. I feel that St. Paul's does a great job of instilling respectful and considerate attitudes in the children. When Jake started public kindergarten, he was more than prepared academically.

We were very pleased with how well [our daughter, Madison,] performed on the [kindergarten] PALS test, and we are convinced it is due to the excellent teaching provided to her by your staff... [you] helped build a strong foundation for her ongoing academic achievements. I truly can't thank you enough and will be forever grateful.

- Tracy M.

My children have thrived during their time at St. Paul's. My husband and I are thankful for the education, both academic and religious. Thank you for providing them with a solid education and a nurturing environment.

Our girls have learned so much at St. Paul's this year. We have noticed a huge improvement in their academics. They will no doubt be reading by the end of their first year here. I also feel that we are getting a better education at St. Paul's than our last school, for half the price! I also feel that my children are safe and well looked after.
